

Quick Guide to...

Student Member

Please read in conjunction with the CICES website www.cices.org

CICES welcomes applications from students enrolled on courses relevant to civil engineering surveying.

Eligibility

A Student Member will be:

- Enrolled on a relevant course of study.

Benefits of Membership

Key benefits include:

- Free membership for the duration of the course.
- Eligibility to enter the CICES student prize and award schemes if on an accredited course.
- Students on sandwich courses will be eligible to count their placement year towards the CICES experience requirements.
- Ten eBooks per year of the CICES journal, Civil Engineering Surveyor.
- The monthly CICES e-newsletter.
- Access to the CICES regional events programme.
- The opportunity to become an active member of the Tomorrow's Leaders Committee for early career members and participate in its activities.
- Degree holders are automatically offered an upgrade to Graduate Member.
- All other students are automatically offered an upgrade to Affiliate Member on successful completion of their studies.

How to Apply

The Student Member application must include:

- Online student application form including the name and email address of the course tutor.
- There is no application fee.

Applications should be submitted, with all requested documentation, electronically by logging into or creating an online account (top right of the CICES website) and heading to your 'Profile' page.